

LATE REPORTS SHOW VILLA DEFEATED BY THE FEDERAL FORCE

REPEATED DISPATCHES FROM VICINITY OF TORREON CLAIM FEDERAL VICTORY.

DISPATCHES MEAGRE

No Definite Word Received Yet From Scene of the Greatest Conflict of Present Revolution.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

March 26.—At noon an official report was received saying an intermittent artillery duel was carried on at Gomez Palacio during the night. There are no details.

An atmosphere of pessimistic anxiety enveloped the city early today over the possible fate of Gen. Francisco Villa and his 12,000 rebel soldiers which, at last reports, were engaged in desperate fighting at Gomez Palacio, a suburb of Torreon. Not for two days has an authoritative word come from the front, and press dispatches, which so far have been more reliable than the so-called official dispatches, have been lacking.

Even a courier has penetrated the desert between Torreon and Chihuahua, and no communication by wire or any nature has been received for forty-eight hours.

News dispatches from Mexico City reported here last night declaring that the Huerta government war department had issued a bulletin to the effect that Villa was in full retreat and not believed generally, but there is no doubt that their contents have added to the worry of the rebel officers here.

CLAIM FEDERAL VICTORY.

El Paso, March 26.—The rebels have been repulsed, and they have taken the offensive at Gomez Palacio was the assertion made here today by Miguel Diebold, inspector of Mexican consular.

Senator Diebold exhibited messages from Mexico City as his authority for the statement. One message declared that the rebels have not even approached Torreon proper, but have had their hands full at Gomez Palacio, three miles distant. He asserted that the rebels are generally, but there is no doubt that their contents have added to the worry of the rebel officers here.

ASSURES VICTORY.

Washington, March 26.—This message from Mexico City last night was received at the embassy here today: "Rebels once more routed and repulsed at Gomez Palacio with heavy losses while trying to approach Torreon."

The state department had only a report from El Paso saying that up to yesterday afternoon results were "still undetermined."

OTHER DISPATCHES REPORTED THAT THERE WAS ABSOLUTELY NO FOUNDATION FOR STORIES THAT DANGER THREATENED FIVE AMERICANS IN THE TIAHUALLILLO DISTRICT OF COAHUILA.

Consular representative reported all foreigners were in the territory under constitutional control as being protected.

CONSUL GARRETT AT NUEVO LAREDO JUST OVER THE RIO GRANDE, REPORTED THAT AN AMERICAN BOY, LAREDO TEXAS, WAS WOUNDED BY THE CHEER BY A SHOT FIRED FROM THE MEXICAN SIDE.

NEW CRISIS.

Premier Asquith was brought face to face today with a new crisis by the resignation of Field Marshal Sir John French, chief of the imperial staff, and virtual head of the British army.

Other leading officers of the army were also expected to hand in their papers as a direct outcome of the resignation of Field Marshal Sir John French, chief of the imperial staff, and virtual head of the British army.

One of the problems considered was the exhibition of moving pictures in several of the different institutions as a method of occasional entertainment.

Originally it was planned to perfect an organization, but at the suggestion of C. W. Brown, superintendent of the state reformatory at Green Bay, it was decided to have the calling of the meetings under the direct supervision of the state board of correction.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Terre Haute, Ind., March 26.—Ernest McWilliams, 15 years old, died today of wounds he received Tuesday in a 45 minute pistol fight with the police.

McWilliams was caught in the gun store of Ed. S. Tetzel and the police suspected he was there for the purpose of theft. The boy, however, declared he was there to get even with Tetzel, who had refused him employment.

"I was not scared a bit," said the boy, after he had been arrested, "but when I got hit in the leg it bled so much that I got dizzy and I had to quit."

"I did not try to wound a policeman every time I fired. I shot over their heads, but I got mad whenever one would hit me with a bullet and then I would try to lay one of them out."

McWilliams said he planned the whole thing after he had seen a motion picture show, a portrayal of two boys shooting at a policeman in a store.

FORMER MADISON DOCTOR APPLIES FOR A PAROLE BUT CASE IS HELD OVER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., March 26.—When the application of Dr. Allen R. Law, who was convicted here of manslaughter two years ago in connection with the death of Anna O'Brien, came up as a request for a parole yesterday afternoon, it was decided to delay the case until the next regular parole meeting at the prison. The next parole meeting will be held at the prison the third Tuesday in May.

"We could see no reason for making this a special case," said a member of the parole board in his decision. "We have decided to allow it to come up for consideration in the regular course of business, just as other applications for parole."

Dr. Law, by reason of the commutation of his sentence, became eligible for parole yesterday. It was generally expected here that the request would be granted, but there is an intimation here that the members of the parole board determined not to be rushed off their feet in the consideration of any special case.

TOLLS REPEAL BILL STARTS TROUBLE IN THE HOUSE TODAY

Every Sort of Movement Made to Hinder Passage of Measure.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, March 26.—Democratic house leaders abandoned the idea of only fifteen hours debate on the Panama tolls exemption repeal today and agreed to twenty. This would bring a vote probably Saturday.

President Wilson conferred with several congressmen before the house convened. Representative Covington of Maryland and Ben of Georgia, who are helping to line up the administration forces, told him there would be a majority of at least fifty on the passage of a special rule and of about seventy-five or one hundred on the adoption of the repeal.

Such a provision in a special rule brought on soon after the house assembled at 11 a. m. today divided the time so as to give the hours for those who were in opposition to be controlled by Chairman Adamson of the commerce committee, five hours for the democrats opposed to be controlled by Representative Doremus of Michigan, four for the republicans to be controlled by Representative Voland of California, and one hour for the progressives to be controlled by Representative Lafferty of Oregon.

There was talk of understanding that the debate on adopting the special rule would be more limited than first was proposed and probably would be held to two hours or less.

These arrangements cleared the way for the launching of the repeal fight in today's session. Nearly one hundred speeches have been prepared on both sides of the question and the fight promises to be the most spectacular since the democratic administration came into power.

While the opening skirmish was on in the house the first guns were being heard in the senate, where Senator Owen delivered a speech supporting the repeal.

Just when the rules committee had agreed on arrangement to parcel out twenty-four hours for debate, between the contending factions and the first skirmish of the fight was about to start, the river and harbor bill then the only obstruction to the toll repeal bill, was temporarily displaced and a new stumbling block—a conference report on the urgent-deficiency bill—was inserted. A threatened filibuster on that prolonged the situation and gave indication that the repeal bill might possibly be forced over until tomorrow.

Administration supporters, chafing at the delays, got their forces into position to take advantage of the practical opportunity; the opponents drew on all their resources to hamper the measure.

President Wilson, confident of the state of the fight, received reports of the success of the White House. Leaders assured him a safe majority would carry the repeal.

The senate began its own debate with a speech by Senator Owen. Senator Lewis introduced a resolution for equal tolls for all.

SIX MILLION AT STAKE OVER OLD LAND CLAIMS OF CANADIAN INDIANS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, March 26.—Six million dollars is at issue in twenty six claims now being considered here by an international tribunal on arbitration. The Commission, tucked away in an obscure building, is slowly grinding out the work. Many of the claims are hoary with antiquity and replete with interest.

Most important is that made by Great Britain in behalf of the Gayuga Indians, residents in Canada. It is claimed that the ancestors of these aborigines were prior to the war of 1812 deprived of their rights, which they had in a perpetual annuity of $2,500. The United States agreed to pay for lands ceded to it by the Gayuga nation. The petitions held that since 1909 only American Cayugas have been paid the annuity. The amount is nearly $1,000,000.

Among the American claims there is one by heirs of William Webster, who they claim, purchased lands in New Zealand from native chiefs about 70 years ago. Great Britain agreed to the property. It amounts to $170,000.

A similar amount is involved in a like claim by the Sultan of Johore, and which he was later deprived of. The United States is repulsed in claims for the seizure by Canadian officials of American fishing vessels, and Great Britain in a counter claim for vessels seized in Behring Sea by the United States. Great Britain is also pressing claims for cutting the oceanic cables at Cienfuegos, Cuba, in 1896 and in Manila Bay during the Spanish American war.

The tribunal to pass on the claims includes Hon. Henri Fromageot, of France; Hon. Chaudrier P. Anderson, formerly councillor of the American Department of State; Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Chief Justice of Canada.

SENATOR OF MAINE DEFENDS PRESIDENT

Says Toleration is the Only Policy That Can Be Consistently Maintained.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Portland, Me., March 26.—Charles P. Johnson, United States senator from Maine, praised President Wilson and defended the administration's Mexican policy in addressing the democratic state convention here today. With reference to Mexico, Senator Johnson said: "I am a tolerant man."

"We have waited patiently because we are big enough to exercise toleration for Mexico to settle its turbulent affairs, hoping that a deliverer may appear among the people as one appears in the history of all nations. Realizing the impossibility of recognizing any government, particularly one which bears the name of a republic, which owes its existence to assassination and cruelty, we have also realized that armed intervention meant war with all its attendant suffering and misery."

QUEEN OF BULGARIA TO VISIT AMERICA

First Female Monarch to Visit United States to Sail the Last of May.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Sofia, Bulgaria, March 26.—Queen Eleanor of Bulgaria, who some time ago declared her intentions of visiting the United States, today announced she would depart for her journey from the Bulgarian capital during the third week of May. Her majesty will presumably proceed to Hamburg and embark there on board the Hamburg-American liner Kaiser, which she must have with her, which left port for New York on May 21st.

Queen Eleanor will be the first reigning queen to visit the United States. She intends to make a study of American institutions and people, in which she has always been greatly interested.

Her majesty was much touched during the recent Balkan war by the practical sympathy displayed for her suffering subjects by Americans. She made many inquiries among the Bulgarian soldiers, numbers of whom had been residents of the United States, and had answered their country's call to arms.

It is stated semi-officially that King Ferdinand also will pay a visit to the United States, probably in 1915. He may see the Panama-Pacific exposition. His plans for his majesty's trip are not yet definite.

FOND DU LAC COUNTY IS FIRST TO APPLY FOR CONVICT LABOR

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Waupun, Wis., March 24.—The first county to apply for convict labor on state highways is Fond du Lac County. The county highway commissioner, has written to Warden Woodward that he will have eight camps with twelve men to a crew.

About 250 convicts have applied to the county for work. From all applicants the warden asks references from judges and attorneys concerned in their conviction. As a rule these references have been hard to get.

Warden Woodward asks the governor to commute sentences of those men who make good records during the summer. Since there is no indeterminate sentence, officials believe the hope of commutation will be an incentive for faithful work.

FIELD MARSHAL HAS RESIGNED POSITION

SIR JOHN FRENCH, CHIEF OF IMPERIAL STAFF LEAVES ARMY.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

SITUATION STILL TENSE

Uster Question: Still Disturbs Peace of Empire—New Parliament May Be Called.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, March 26.—Field Marshal Sir John French, chief of the imperial general staff of the British army, resigned his commission today. The field marshal, who was one of the signatories of the memorandum to Brigadier General Hubert Gough, giving guarantees to the army officers that they would not be ordered to fight the Ulster unionists, regarded the reputation of the documents by the government as a slight on himself, for this reason he resigned.

Opinion is held in political circles today that the resignation following that of Field Marshal Sir John French, chief of the imperial staff, was a blow to the government. General Sir John Spencer Ewart, adjutant general to the forces.

This was regarded as the most likely consequence of the reputation by the government of the memorandum to General Hubert Gough, commander of the third cavalry brigade in Ireland, which the two generals have been led to believe, was approved by the cabinet.

Field Marshal French and Gen. Ewart were joint signers with Col. Seely, secretary for war, of the two repudiated paragraphs that brought about the resignations yesterday of Col. Seely.

Much comment was aroused today by a conference at the war office of all the principle commanding generals of the British army. Those present included Field Marshal French, Lieut. Gen. Ewart, Gen. Sir Horace Lockwood, Smith-Dorrien, aide-de-camp general to the king and Lieut. Gen. Sir James Moncrieff, Orkney, former commander of the southern district of England with headquarters in London.

Col. Seely and Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, also had long conference with Premier Asquith.

Far From Settlement.

Although it was generally conceded today that Premier Asquith had retained the government in his hand in the government is no means altogether out of trouble. It still has to deal with the army officers in Ireland under the new conditions established by the repudiation of the house of commons yesterday. Brigadier General Gough declares that this will mean wholesale resignation and the disruption of the army.

The premier's speech won back the support not only of the liberals, but of the Irish and labor members of parliament by the stand it took in repudiating the army officers in Ireland that they might decide whether or not they would serve against the Ulster unionists.

It is now asserted that as soon as the government formally withdraws the guarantee given by Col. Seely, secretary for war, and Field Marshal Sir John French, the officers will again resign their commissions, this time in earnest.

Army Council Attitude.

There is also to be settled the question of what the army council will do.

Brigadier General Gough, commander of the third cavalry brigade, in the course of an interview said: "If Premier Asquith withdraws the guarantee given by Col. Seely, the government will be faced practically with disruption of the army."

The liberal press in the provinces, while endorsing what Premier Asquith has done, insists that he must go farther and actually withdraw the guarantee given to the officers.

These newspapers say the premier must make it quite plain to all officers of the army and navy that they must under all circumstances obey the orders given them.

Many liberals, too, think Premier Asquith has gone too far in his resignation of Col. Seely, for he has always been suspected of being more unionist than liberal in his sympathy.

Predicts an Election.

The Liverpool Post, a liberal newspaper, says that the month of June is given as the latest date for a general election. It intimated that as the result of the intervention of King George, an agreement has been reached by the unionists and the liberals under the terms of which the home rule bill and the Welsh disestablishment bills shall be passed and understood that a general election shall follow.

"The only thing not absolutely settled in the agreement between the parties," says the newspaper, "is whether an agreement to pass a bill should be passed. The difficulties in regard to this latter bill are likely to be surmounted, however."

HOUGHTON, MICHIGAN REPORTS AN EARTHQUAKE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Houghton, March 2.—Earth shocks were felt throughout the Michigan copper country about eight o'clock this morning. No damage was done. The disturbance is supposed to have been caused by an air blast in one of the mines, as such blasts are common in this district. They are believed to be explosions of imprisoned air in old workings. One of these disturbances occurred recently in one of the deepest mines in the district, while members of the congressional investigating committee were exploring a mine below the surface. The main danger is to mine workers imperiled by falling rocks.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milton Junction, March 26.—James F. Kelly was born in Hebron, Washington county, New York, Oct. 12, 1836, and passed from his earthly sufferings last Monday afternoon, March 25, 1914. He was the third of nine children, who were born to William and Betty Rice Kelly. His mother was a native of Lynn, Mass. Of this large family Mr. Kelly was the last survivor.
In 1857 he came west with his parents, who settled in the township of Fulton, where he resided for six years. On Feb. 19, 1893, Mr. Kelly was united in marriage to Mary O'Connell. The young couple began their home making at Edgerton, where they lived seven years. Later they moved to Milton Junction, where they have since lived. To them were born four children, two of whom, both daughters, the oldest and youngest, died in infancy. Dr. Charles D. and Alice B. are living, the latter being the sole comfort and companion of the aged mother. Mr. Kelly was married by a sister-in-law, Mrs. David Kelly, several nephews and nieces, and a large group of friends.
For a long time Mr. Kelly had not been well, but within a few months his ailment took a more acute form. At times he suffered acutely, but he tried to bear his pain quietly that he might not be a burden to his family and friends. He was an undemanding man, but one who held essential, deep convictions about essentials that enter into and make up the larger life. He served his country in her civil strife as a volunteer in Co. D, 49th Wisconsin regiment. He served his community by upright daily living, in deeds of thoughtful kindness and brotherly regard. He cherished his home as heaven's best gift to man.
Services were held at his late home Wednesday afternoon, March 25, and were conducted by Rev. E. N. Jordan, assisted by Rev. C. S. Mills. In interment in the village cemetery.

VOLCANIC ERUPTION TO LOWER PRICE OF PUMICE
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Tokio, March 26.—A sharp drop in the pumice stone market may be expected as soon, it was believed here today, as the pumice stones created by the eruption of Sakurajima are placed on the market. Since the eruption of the gulf of Kogshima has been covered by such a mass of floating pumice stone that navigation has been difficult and many large masses of the useful stone have floated out to sea.

A few days ago a heavy rain on Sakurajima washed down huge masses of pumice stone from the side of the volcano and many of the villagers who live on the island have quit farming and turned their attention to the harvesting of the pumice stone which has been cast at their doors. One who is of a statistical mind has estimated that the new pumice stone, created by the Sakurajima eruption is enough to supply the world for ten years.

Many Uses for Banana Plant.
Many parts of the banana plant are used in the Malay peninsula besides the fruit. Flower heads are cooked, generally in curries, and the inner portion of the stem is also edible. Shoots and tops of the young plants are used instead of other vegetables. The outer sheaths are valued as elephant fodder.

DR. PLANT CALLS OFF ELIMINATION GAME

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Appleton, Wis., March 26.—After waiting the return of Dr. Plant last night, it was decided not to have an elimination game in the state basketball tournament between Racine and Wausau, and as a result the entries stand the same as they did when first announced.
The Wausau team will be sent home without an opportunity to show its merits. Racine refused to play Wausau and while Mark Clavin, the football coach, who was called in at the eleventh hour to endeavor to straighten out the basketball tangle, wanted to make Racine play or go home, Dr. Plant overruled him. Racine was here in time to play but refused.
Other teams arrived during the night. Janesville arrived at 10:30 p.m., Tomahawk at midnight and Menomonie at 5:30 this morning. Fond du Lac at 11, and Oshkosh, it is expected, will not arrive until this afternoon, having no game until tonight.

HISTORIC OXFORD-CAMBRIDGE BOAT RACE IS SET FOR TODAY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, March 26.—The Thames banks from Putney to Mortlake today were crowded with hundreds of thousands of spectators who were out to witness the annual "naval battle" between these ancient rivals, Oxford and Cambridge. The river course is four and one-half miles long and along both banks of this distance men and women were on stands and on the river's edge to a distance of 100 yards on either bank. Thousands of small craft, including row boats, canoes, houseboats, an anchor and costly launches and yachts were closely packed along the shores and as close to the open course as the authorities permitted. With light and blue favors displayed everywhere, swung in the hands of land spectators and flying from mastsheads and oars, the scene was a veritable rainbow of color. Cambridge colors predominated slightly, but as usual the crowds were less rowing experts than spectators attracted by one of the greatest sporting events of the English year.

Sport Snap Shots

Petey McFarland started Mike Gibbons in the fight game. In the winter of 1910 Petey was doing a theatrical tour and when he landed at St. Paul he found that he was in need of a sparring partner, and because he found that he could make over twice as much with Petey as he could at his job of tin-smithing he gave up the tin-smith work forever. Mike might have been a first-class tin-smith now and may be a foreman in his department if McFarland had not tempted him with the more lucrative offer. But as it has happened, Gibbons feels that he has little reason to regret the move, although at the time he felt that to take the chance was a very reckless thing to do. He was getting his $12 every week regularly those days as a tin-smith and he had a wife to look after, too. However, as things have turned out since it was a very fortunate move for Mike. After Petey had shown him quite a bit about the fighting art he went down to New York to fight and made $64 in one evening just fighting. And after that the money came fast. Mike was not long in convincing the whole tin public that he had quite a little bit on most of the rest of them. Fame and change came to Gibbons in speedy fashion. He and McFarland have been fast friends from the first and they are interested together in several very successful businesses.

CHAMPIONS IN SHAPE FOR CUMBERLANDERS IN OPENING CONTEST

Capt. Hemming Reports Men Fit For Opening Contest in Tenth Annual State Tournament.

(By Scoop.)

Appleton, March 26.—The Janesville high school basketball champions were in trim for the opening game with Cumberland this afternoon. The tournament was scheduled to start promptly at three o'clock, with the Janesville-Cumberland teams as the starters. Referee Schroeder of Iowa, was ready to blow the first whistle and he will act as referee throughout the meet.

Captain Hemming was confident of winning the first game, and felt also that with Cumberland disposed of, the rest would come easier. The first game has been a constant worry on the part of the men.

Practice this morning at the armory saw put the local squad on edge for the hard contests to come. Atwood and Hemming look like sure point-getters, with Dalton the mainstay on floor work. Stewart at stick guard promised to hold his own, while Stickney's injured knee is healing up, so as to warrant him playing his brilliant game. His condition Wednesday was regarded as serious, but after good care, he has been brought back into shape.

The second game of this afternoon was scheduled to take place at four, or soon after, with Fond du Lac and Menomonie as the contestants. Janesville are making a hit in Appleton, and betting to a certain extent has been placed on them, with large odds. Several La Crosse players, who backed out of the team because they refused to play elimination games, are in Appleton to witness the games.

Janesville appeared to be the strongest team in the afternoon battle, previous to the game, as they have the weight to a good advantage.

Six of the eight teams to compete on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week are Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Ripon, Waubesa, Appleton and Weyauwega. Either Sheboygan or Two Rivers will be the seventh, and either Marshfield or West Green Bay the eighth.

Fond du Lac has victories over Menasha, 43-18; Appleton 26-18; Oshkosh, 21-17; Sheboygan, 31-7; Neenah, 31-17; and Sheboygan 32-4. Fond's only defeat was administered by Oshkosh last week 35-9.

Ripon's record is one of continuous victories. Krippene's quintet beat Brandon, 26-22; Berlin, 38-20; and Rosendale, 23-22, and then won the championship in the Ripon college invitational tournament.

Waubesa's record includes wins over Menasha, 32-18; Neenah, 30-20; Marshfield, 21-17; and Neenah, 40-20. Appleton's only defeat was administered by Fond du Lac, 28-18. Appleton defeated Manitowish, 52-13; Neenah, 29-19; Two Rivers, 26-7; and Marshfield, 14-7; and Oconto, 17-7 and 64-10.

Weyauwega lost to Grand Rapids 26-20, at Grand Rapids, and won from West Green Bay, 40-14; from Oshkosh 19-8 and from Appleton 19-18.

Oshkosh lost to Weyauwega at Weyauwega, defeated Neenah, West Green Bay and Sheboygan, the latter team twice.

LOCAL FANS PULLING FOR BAUMAN TO WIN

Milwaukee Boxer Great Favorite With Followers, Who Hope He "Puts Over" Win Against Kelly.

Will Walter Bauman, Milwaukee's foremost boxer and star athlete, make good against Spike Kelly, welter-weight champion, when the two meet in the boxing exhibition of the Bower City club at the Myers Theatre April 10.

Kelly holds Bauman in a serious light from reports from his training camp at Superior, and Spike is training hard not only for this match, but putting on touches for his bout with Wildcat Ferns, the only battler who has given him a hard run. If Spike will meet the surprise of his career, for the Milwaukee pug will be here primed to win.

year, and his bout with Willie Schaefer of Chicago was the first real test of his return to the ropes. He certainly made good, and his boxing against Mike Graham showed improvement, for he whipped across those short wicked jabs with such speed and accuracy that had Graham shaking all over. Only the seeming unhuman ability of Graham to eat punishment saved him from being put to the floor in the last rounds, particularly in the seventh, when Bauman had him looking at his corner with a longing for the sound of the welcome song.

During the three weeks of bowling the best teams and individual bowlers from every section of the country have been in competition for the total $30,000 in cash prizes offered this year. Detroit, Baltimore, Washington, New York and Philadelphia today put in bids to entertain the fifteenth annual tournament next year.

FRESHMAN GIRLS WIN GAME WITH SOPHOMORES

At the high school gymnasium yesterday afternoon the girls' first freshman basketball team played the girl sophomore team, resulting in a victory for the freshmen of 4 to 2. Miss Abell refereed the first half and Miss Frances Brown the second half of the game.

first? This question is uppermost in the minds of the southern Wisconsin boxing followers and those who have seen the Milwaukee battler in action expect him to hold his own for the ten rounds, and would like to see him put over a victory.

Bauman has been constantly training in Milwaukee for this match, knowing that it is far the most important of his combats, and George (Larg), president of the local boxing club, declared that he was at it for a finish fight, and after seeing him box steady with three different opponents for twenty rounds in one of his strenuous training stunts, after which he showed no signs of tiring, Kelly will have to unload all he has got to keep a grip on that welterweight belt with the Milwaukee boy in this condition.

Three years ago Bauman was in the thick of the boxing game and was a winner, and then quit the ring for a

Y. M. C. A. BOWLERS ACTIVE THIS WEEK

Victories of Cardinals and Iroquois Change Percentages of Teams.

Last evening at the Y. M. C. A. alleys, the Giants failed to roll in championship form, and as a result dropped the match to the Iroquois. This victory places the Iroquois on a par with the Maroons, while the defeat drops the Giants back to a tie with the Cardinals. The first game proved disastrous to the Giants, having given way to a lead that they found impossible to overcome. The scores for the evening's match were:

Giants: Huebel 131 161 146 Hayes 104 174 132 Gsell 127 150 140 Hughes 122 114 132 Dr. Richards 180 138 188

Totals 727 754 701—2182

In the match on Tuesday evening the Cardinals put one over on the Maroons, which match places the two top-notchers and the two low teams on a scale of just one match game's difference. The scores for that match were:

Maroons: Mott 126 133 116 Karberg 132 142 135 Kopp 122 138 115 Kohler 127 119 135 Jacobson 130 155 191

The New Hudson Big Six Is Here

The Widely-Wanted Medium-Priced Six

Thousands have waited for this medium-priced Light Six.

All motorists concede the vast superiority of the Six. Yet many continue to drive fours because they fear a six will prove costly to run; and because they think a Six must be higher priced than a four.

The HUDSON Six-40—some call it the HUDSON Light Six—at $1750, is Howard E. Coffin's answer to this wide demand. He has built a light Six to correspond with the mental motor-car of a hundred thousand men.

It is low in price—costs little to run.

It is ready for you now—this car you've waited for.

The Easiest-Riding Car We Know We believe this HUDSON Light Six to be the easiest-riding car in the world.

We say this, having knowledge of every American car—of every European car. Never within the wide experience of HUDSON men has there been produced a car with such truly wonderful riding qualities.

You sit in a softly-cushioned seat; and over the roughest of roads you seem to float on air, while the buildings, the trees and the hills glide swiftly by. It feels as if the road moved—not the car—so gentle is the motion.

Miles are shorter and pleasure longer when you ride in the HUDSON Six-40.

A Few of Its Advantages: Eight weight—2,980 pounds, about 18 pounds to the inch, over-all. Economy of fuel consumption. Much lessened tire expense. Less liability to repair bills—because vibration abolished. Six-cylinder motor—cylinders 3 1/2 x 5 inches, developing 40 to 47 horse-power, smoothly, flexibly, without jerk or jar. One-man top, with quickly-adjustable, permanently-attached side curtains folded in top. Left-side drive, right-handed (center) control, dimming headlights, new speedometer drive, electric starting and lighting. Come, see this HUDSON Light Six TO-DAY! To ride in the car is a revelation. A Larger Six if Wanted. For those who prefer a larger more impressive car we have the Six-54, 135-inch wheel-base, 54 rated horse power, 36 x 4 1/2 inch tires, four forward speeds, $2250 f. o. b. Detroit. The Six-54 and the Six-40 are practically alike in design, equipment and luxurious finish.

WEATHER FORECAST.

A TIME TO FIGHT.

There has been so much legislation going on within the past few months that it is hard to keep in touch with all of it. Wisconsin "patriots" are familiar with the fight that has been made upon the railroads that pass through its borders, but the national end of the conflict has perhaps escaped them. Leslie's Weekly says:

"The world loves a fighter. It has little respect for the man who, when smitten on one cheek, turns the other to the smiter, also. One who does not resent a wrong is looked upon either as weak or cowardly. Even a bad cause wins a following, if it has a fighter at its head."

"The railroads of this country have had every man's hand against them. The Interstate Commerce Commission has slapped them in the face, the postoffice department has robbed them by adding to the weight and costs of mail transportation without extra pay, state legislatures have passed full crew bills imposing unnecessary burdens on the railways without right or reason; and the attorney general's department at Washington has sought to dismember systems whose strength lay in their unity and whose dismemberment meant their ruin."

"Meanwhile what have the railroads done? They have yielded meekly to abuse, to robbery and oppression. They have been so cowed by the terrible onslaught of the muckrakers and the persistent hammering of the demagogues that no spirit of resistance has remained. The worm will turn. The most wholesome sign of the times is found in the militant attitude of the Pennsylvania railroad, voiced by President Rea, at the recent annual meeting of its stockholders, when he said that hereafter the management of that company was determined to allow no statement reflecting on it or on the integrity of its officers to go unchallenged. Good!"

"President Rea said some other incisive things. On another page of this issue we print his remarks in full. They will be read with interest and they deserved the applause they received from the assembled stockholders."

"All over this country, the people are rising in resentment against the unfair treatment the railroads are receiving. The people of Connecticut, and in fact throughout New England, are determined to give the new management of the New Haven railroad fair play. The stockholders have suffered enough," says ex-Lieutenant-Governor Blakeslee of New Haven. They propose to fight the government's efforts to compel the New Haven to give up the Boston and Maine and other holdings. On the Pacific coast, every chamber of commerce is entering a united protest against the absurd demand of the department of justice that the Southern Pacific shall give up control of the Central Pacific."

"Bills for the repeal of the 'full crew' laws are now being urged upon the legislatures of New York, New Jersey and other states, though these laws were passed only a year ago. Behind this demand stand the security holders of the railroads. Organized, they can accomplish all that they seek, for at heart the people are fair-minded. It is only necessary to expose the injustice of a situation to secure relief."

"The working masses are having the real truth driven home to them by the wholesale discharge of railroad employees going on throughout the country under the compulsion placed on the railroads to cut their expenses to the bone." President Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, sorrowfully states that 6,000 of the employees of that railroad have been laid off during the past year. It is estimated that 25 per cent of the workmen in the railroad shops in the East and from 10 to 15 per cent in other sections are idle. Who will care for these employees? Will the Interstate Commerce Commission? Will the department of justice? Will all the politicians catering to class voters in our legislatures and at the national capital?

"The people are thinking of these things. They are discovering the impressive fact that a demagogue never filled a pay envelope and never will!"

A WISE SUGGESTION.
Legislation passed in a hurry and then reconsidered at leisure always brings forth more or less unfavorable comment. We are witnessing an example of this class of law-making just at present in the president's plea for the repeal of the canal toll and his acknowledgment that the hasty action of congress was a grievous mistake. Leslie's magazine suggests that it may be possible that some other of the legislation so bitterly opposed by business men of the nation and now pending may also be a bad mistake in the long run. It adds the question: "We are witnessing the results of hasty legislation, in the president's plea for the prompt repeal of the canal tolls exemption and his acknowledgment that the action of congress in that matter was a grievous mistake.

"Isn't it possible that some of the other legislation so bitterly opposed by the business men of this country, and now pending, may prove to be a bad mistake? Are we quite sure, as yet, that the tariff bill and the income tax will work out satisfactorily? Why not give them a fair trial and let other experimental legislation wait till the next session? And will the Mexican policy lead to war or to peace?"

"The democratic national convention strongly declared for the canal tolls exemption which the president now repudiates as a blot upon our national honor. When the bill was before the senate, the arguments in favor of a free canal, were made by Senator Root and others on the republican side. Little attention was paid to them. It was a mistake not to listen then. Is congress making another mistake now?"

"The proposed anti-trust bills are looked upon by a large element of thoughtful business men, including those represented in the national chamber of commerce at Washington, as a menace to the prosperity of the country. Yet, when the representatives of this great commercial chamber asked for a hearing on these bills, they failed to obtain it."

"Isn't it time to suggest that the mad rush of half-baked, ill-considered and destructive legislation 'should stop? Wouldn't it be better if all bills affecting international relations, the future of the railroads, the regulation of industries and the welfare of the citizen should be considered, not under the lash of the caucus, not under compulsion from the white house, but in a calm, orderly, non-partisan, thoughtful way?"

"Let us make haste, slowly and we shall have fewer blunders to confess and fewer injuries to repair."

AN UNSOUND PARALLEL.

"When the question of government ownership of railroads, in a country whose government is subject to the popular vote, crops up, we are invariably referred to the Panama railroad as an instance of successful public ownership," says the Wall Street Journal. "If charging three cents per ton for freight carried by the privately owned railroads of the United States for one-fourth of that figure represents successful operation, there is nothing more to be said. Is that the kind of bill the shippers of this country and the consumers are willing to pay to secure the proffered boon?"

"But the administrative success in Panama was due to the exact reverse of popular government. It was, in fact, a military autocracy. Officers of the American army, beyond the reach of bribes or politics, administered the road, unhampered by taxing boards, state regulating bodies, labor unions, or the Interstate Commerce Commission. If the carriage of freight under such favorable conditions was so costly on the fifty miles of switch at Panama, what would not politics do with the 250,000 miles of steam railroad here?"

"When the German state railroads, capitalized at twice the figure of the American roads, are quoted as an instance of successful state ownership, the same objection applies. Their administration is quasi-military and absolutely autocratic. There is nothing like popular control. All sorts of rebates and favors are conceded as matters of state policy, and the losses are made up by the general taxpayer, the consumer and the shipper small enough to be ignored."

"No less than 216 local bodies in this country have tried municipal ownership of electric railways and relinquished it. Texas has a state railway on its hands, which it would like to give away to a private corporation on any terms that would save its face. The plain fact is that only privately owned roads, run with the most rigid economy and the highest efficiency possible by a corporation, can in any measure meet the ever increasing public demands and live."

It is said that the $35,000,000 government railroad in Alaska is to be an object in successful government ownership. Even if it is run without rebates, present freight and passenger rates permitted by the Interstate Commerce Commission, it will provide a bottomless quagmire for the taxpayer's money, worthy to rank with the rives and harbors pork barrel."

It is not surprising that much interest is being shown in the candidacy of J. T. Hooper for school commissioner at large when it is considered that by his election it is possible to secure the services of a man with thirty years' teaching experience who is personally interested in Janesville schools and has a state wide reputation as an educator.

Matters political are looking up. Now that the smoke of battle has cleared away from the primaries and left Millmore and Goodman to fight out the election, it is expected that some interesting developments will occur. The average dooper is using up reams of paper and lots of pencils to prove that their special favorite of the two has the best of the argument from point of view. It will be close to say the least.

There appears to be a slight difference between the actions of Villa at Torreón and Wilson in Washington. Wilson is watching and waiting and Villa is fighting and watching.

Beating a carpet with a switch is hard on the hands, for it is necessary to operate close to the carpet to get the best results, and this is often disastrous to the knuckles. In the case of the new invention referred to the handle is raised so that there is no danger to delicate flesh in coming in contact with the hard fabric of the carpet.

FINDINGS MAY MEAN BUILDINGS LOCATED ON BRIDGE MUST GO

RAILROAD COMMISSION REPORTS TO GOVERNOR THAT ROCK IS NAVIGABLE STREAM.

REPORT FILED TODAY

Sets Forth That Piers and Foundations Constitute Obstructions.

Dispatches from Madison, today report that the state railroad commission has filed an important statement with Governor R. E. McGovern relative to the navigable conditions in Rock river at Janesville as the result of an investigation which was started nine months ago.

The report goes carefully into the matter of obstructions in the river and the findings are such as to indicate that the piers, piling, concrete foundations which now form the support for buildings over the river on Milwaukee street and at other places in the stream, are obstructions to navigation and to the natural flow of the current.

Inasmuch as the statute covering the facts as to obstructions in rivers is not definite, a suit will probably be brought by the attorney general to determine whether these obstructions are unlawful. If the court should decide affirmatively an order to clear the stream of buildings built above it might be expected, which would affect property owners on Milwaukee street and on Grand avenue in this city, and probably would include similar buildings in Fort Atkinson.

Commissioner's Findings.

The exact findings of the commission are:

"First, that Rock river is a navigable stream;

"Second, that it is navigable by rowboats and other navigable craft;

"Third, that the piers, piling, concrete foundations, etc., constitute obstructions to navigation and to the natural flow of the waters of the stream, having a tendency to narrow the channel;

"Fourth, that in case of high water, logs, lumber and other refuse are liable to lodge against such obstructions, preventing the free passage of water through the navigable channel, thereby causing injury and damage;

"Fifth, that the report is one of the most unique prepared by the commission. It contains about fifty photographs of scenes along the river at Janesville tending to show that piers obstruct navigation.

The whole matter was brought to the attention of the state railroad commission shortly after the fire of April 1, 1913, which destroyed the stores on the Milwaukee street bridge.

C. S. and C. W. Jackman, through their attorneys, Richmond, Jackman and Swanson of Madison, filed a petition with the commission, setting forth as follows:

"1. That the entire southerly side of the Milwaukee street bridge over Rock river, has been covered with buildings erected on piles, piers and concrete foundations; that like buildings, structures, fillings and obstructions have been placed in said Rock river on the northwesterly side of said bridge;

"2. That such buildings, piers, piling and foundations are so placed and erected and are so constructed without legislative or other lawful authority;

"3. That the maintenance of such buildings, piers, concrete foundations, and walls interfere with navigation and is an obstruction to navigation and to the constant menace to the safety of the public and riparian owners along said stream;

"4. That the maintenance of such obstructions is in violation of Chapter 89m of the laws of Wisconsin for the year 1911.

The hearing of the commission on the petition filed by Messrs. Jackman was held June 26 at the city hall at which time the testimony was taken from a dozen or more witnesses including Edwin F. Carpenter and City Engineer C. V. Kerch. At this hearing both Mr. Sutherland and Mr. Carpenter stated that they had intentions of rebuilding over the river at the southerly side of the bridge.

The commission received evidence in regard to the uses of Rock river for navigation, as to high water, low water and other matters relative to the case, and the testimony was closed.

According to Mayor Fathers, Chairman Roemer of the commission made several trips to Washington to confer with the war department in regard to the situation, and took pains personally to see the records and give the ally a full and complete investigation.

For that reason there has been considerable delay in arriving at the final conclusion and in preparing the report.

HOOPER DECIDES TO ENTER THE CONTEST

Will Make Race for School Commissioner at Large at April Election.

J. T. Hooper, who was nominated at Tuesday's primary by the writing in of his name on the primary ballot by some two hundred of his friends for the office of school commissioner at large for the city of Janesville, has decided to enter the contest.

"I was very much surprised to be asked to have my name submitted for the nomination as school commissioner at large for the city of Janesville. I was very much surprised at the large number of people who took pains to write my name on the ballot in order that the nomination might be made. I have therefore decided to accept the office if elected."

"In making this announcement, I wish it distinctly understood that I have no criticism to offer on the present management of the school at large, no axe to grind, and no personal ambition to gratify. I have always held that every right-minded citizen has a public responsibility where he is desired, and where his qualifications fit him to give efficient service. For thirty years past, the best of my life has been given to educational problems. It is along educational lines that my services are desired, and I am elected, I will devote my best energies to the improvement of the public school system of the city of Janesville."

TALKING BIG.

YES I know I've told you before how I hated it, but it won't do you any harm to hear it again; for if you are my old friend, the average man or woman, you cannot too often hear this most typical, most common and most irritating of American faults made fun of.

And if you are the "exceptional" person who never talks big, I know you'll enjoy hearing your neighbors bawled over the coals. But please don't make the mistake of thinking you are the exception when you are really very much the rule.

Of course you know what I mean by big talk—the attempt to make yourself, and especially your possessions seem bigger than they are.

For instance, the daughter of one of my acquaintances who is especially gifted along this line, was married a few weeks ago. The proud mother went about beforehand distributing gracefully worded details about the wedding. A typical one was "His father sent them a beautiful chest of silver." We pictured a handsome chest with rows of gleaming silver, and you can imagine how surprised we were to find out afterwards that the "chest of silver" consisted merely of half a dozen knives, forks and spoons.

Again, I was discussing cameras with a typical "big talker" the other day. He had a fair sized camera which cost about $30, he told me proudly. My camera, although small, happens to have cost about twice that sum. And when by examining it closely he discovered the trade mark which proved its cost, he at once regretted that he had not bought one of those little marked, nonchalantly, cameras which cost $10.

"What make?" I asked.

He stammered a bit and then named a make with which I chanced to be familiar. And I happened to be perfectly positive that that concern never manufactured a camera at anywhere near that price.

Talk is cheap and big talk is dirt cheap. But sooner or later you always get found out, as this man was, and then all your further statements whether true or false are sure to be discredited.

Foreigners seldom "talk big" the way Americans do. They may feel big enough but they hide their feelings better than we do. One of the first things I noticed when on a visit to an English colony was the Englishman's delightful freedom from this habit. Several of them had plenty of material on which to base some tremendous talk, but they never used it at all.

Now don't accuse me of being lacking in patriotism. I'm not at all. In fact it is because I love my country so well that I deprecate her faults and long to see all Americans, myself included, struggle against the national tendency to "talk big."

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girls of nineteen years.

(1) One of us goes with a young man of twenty-two, who is exceedingly jealous and finds fault with whatever I do and does not get over his jealousy until he is coaxed and petted for a while.

(2) The other goes with a young man of twenty-one, who denies being jealous and gives me permission to go to dances to which he without doing any harm, I take plenty of exercise every day, as I have five blocks to go to school.

(3) What is the best kind of goods to make a new bathing suit out of?

(4) I have just learned about a depilatory stone which may be used to take off superfluous hair. It may be purchased in the drug stores. Use it by rubbing lightly, on the hairy spots, several times a day. If the hairs are long and coarse, pull them out or cut them off before using, if you wish. Remember only rub lightly, as otherwise the friction might cause soreness. The treatment will have to be kept up constantly to keep the hair rubbed down, but is the least injurious depilatory I have heard of. Nothing but the electric needle will rid you of hairs permanently.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) What will reduce the hair on my arms?

(2) I am very thin and would like to know if anything would fatten me up without doing any harm. I take plenty of exercise every day, as I have five blocks to go to school.

(2) As you are going to school I presume you are still quite young and may hope to grow naturally fatter in a few years. Take no violent exercise, drink lots of pure milk and water, eat plenty of nourishing food and get your "beauty sleep," which means that you should be in bed at nine o'clock every night at the latest.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a man of twenty-four years and have been corresponding with a girl fifteen years old. Do you think it is wrong of me in so doing? She seems to like me and she also has won my heart. Please advise me.

DOUBTER.

If you really love this girl you will wait until she is a woman before asking her to marry you. She is not ready for marriage now, either mentally or physically. She could not make you happy and you could not make her happy. Wait until she is eighteen and then, if you love each other, marry. Meantime leave her quite free to learn to love you or to love somebody else. She is too young to know what love and marriage mean now. Give her a fair show.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

IF YOU want a thing will it, don't merely wish it. The Chinese say "great souls have wills, feeble ones have only wishes."

VALUE OF SKIM MILK.

Many people have an idea that skim milk is not of any value as a food, which proves that we do not study food values enough. Skim milk has all the valuable properties of milk minus the cream, which are many. The casein is left, which is the protein food of milk, and is most valuable as a builder of tissue.

If you can spare it from the pigs, let the little people have it to drink instead of water. If it must be bought, you can buy two or three quarts of the skim milk for the price of one quart of whole milk, and many most desirable dishes may be made with it which can not be told from that made of whole milk.

For example, the much-liked Indian pudding, which is made of corn meal, two quarts of milk, a cup of suet, sugar and a few raisins and an egg or two. The skim milk may be used exactly as well, as the fat is all supplied by the suet. Mothers of large families would do well to study the value of skim milk and buy much of it, instead of so much of the whole milk.

A pitcher of milk on the table will be a great food saver in other more expensive foods.

Skim milk alone, of course, would be an unbalanced ration, but combined with other foods which supply its fat, it makes a most acceptable addition to the diet.

All the various creamy soups which are made from milk can be just as well made from the skim milk, and no one need know the difference. For those who use milk in bread it is also valuable. For white sauces, for cakes, muffins, griddle cakes, biscuit and in fact anywhere the whole milk is used skimmed milk may be substituted.

Rice and tapioca can be cooked with skim milk, and it will be found good. When baking ham or chicken in milk, which is a favorite dish with many, the skim milk may be used at much less expense.

Codfish Chowder.—Take a half pound of codfish, a quarter of a pound of salt pork, a half dozen potatoes, three onions all sliced, two quarts of skim milk, salt and pepper. Cut the pork into dice and put into a large kettle; try out until brown, add the onions and stir until yellow, add the potatoes sliced and sufficient water to cover. Have the codfish soaked and shredded; add when the potatoes are nearly done, then add the scalding milk, seasonings, a half dozen crackers. Serve hot.

Women Worth While

HARRIET CHALMERS ADAMS.

By Selene Armstrong Harmon.

Not so very many years ago a sturdy little girl was tossed by her father into the saddle and rode before him from northern California to Oregon and from Oregon to Mexico. Even in those courageous days, and in the far west where the grown-up generation had endured pioneer hardships, this was a feat of great hardihood for any child to perform. The wonderful journey stirred powerfully her sensitive imagination and set a thousand gypsy sprites to dancing in her blood.

And ever since Harriet Chalmers Adams has followed the call of the open road, until now she is known in every land as America's greatest woman explorer. She has lived among primitive peoples, has crossed the Andes four times in the saddle, has spent months among the head hunters of Luzon, has braved the Guinean trail. She knows every foot of the trail from Patagonia to Paraguay, and from Sulu to Singapore. She has penetrated within regions where no white woman has ever before or since set foot.

"The strongest incentive in my traveling," says Mrs. Adams, "has been merely the love of new scenes and adventure. In later years I have come to co-ordinate and unify the knowledge and experience gained on the open trail, to apply these to the study of the history of civilizations and of peoples. But both my husband and I have traveled, first of all, for the mere love of going."

"We became interested in the study of Latin America and its people long before the construction of the Panama canal had turned the attention of North America upon them. I have journeyed 40,000 miles in Latin America, and have crossed the Andes on mule-back four times, reaching at one time an altitude of 19,200 feet above the sea. Once we spent two and a half months at the mouth of the Oyapoc river, living the life of the natives. Primitive people fascinate me. I have never had the least fear of them, and have always found that one who does not play the part of aggressor has nothing to fear from them."

After "Centur" and "South America we began to study the West Indies. I went across the island of Haiti in the saddle. Wonderful Haiti! The Dominican republic should be the Mecca of every patriotic American, for here it was that Columbus really lived. Here he founded his first settlements. Here he worked and suffered. Here he lies today, in the old cathedral of Santo Domingo, the mother city of the Americas."

These journeys, however, constitute only the merest fraction of all that Mrs. Adams has made. She has seen all of the Azores, Madeira, Portugal and Spain after which, filled with enthusiasm for things Spanish, she followed the quest of them into Moorish Africa. She has slept and eaten among the tribes in Borneo, has seen ancient and modern China, Siberia, Mongolia and other countries far from the beaten track of the conventional traveler.

Mrs. Adams has been honored by many geographical and scientific societies of the old world, as well as of America. Last year she received, for a woman, the unique distinction of being made a fellow of the Royal Geographical society of London.

Like every man or woman who has done a work really worth while, Mrs. Adams is full of enthusiasm for her travels. She has delighted thousands of people with her travel stories, which she tells with an unusual gift of vivid speech. She also writes books of travel. Anyone, however, who has come under the spell of her piquant and engaging personality would prefer to hear her first hand about the wonderful things that have happened to her instead of reading them in cold type.

HER WHEREABOUTS REMAINS MYSTERY

Catherine Winters.

Twice within the past fortnight has Dr. W. A. Winters of Newcastle, Ind., received word that his ten-year-old daughter, Catherine, who mysteriously disappeared a year ago, has been found. The first report came from an Ohio town, but when the dentist went to identify her he found the girl to be another. Then came word from Hurtsville, Ark., that his daughter had been found there. When he went to Arkansas he was again disappointed, and the mystery of the child's disappearance remains as deep as ever.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of the ordinary cough more quickly, usually conquering it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for spasmodic croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, asthma and pneumonia. Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help relieve a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacal and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination. This Pinex and Sugar Syrup remedy has often been imitated, but the old successful mixture has never been equaled. It is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The Valiants of Virginia

By Hallie Erminie Rives

Old-Fashioned

Illustrated by Laura Stout

Copyright, 1913, by Bobbe-Merrill Co.

"There are few indeed who do not recall the tragedy, with which in the public mind the state is connected. The fact, moreover, that this old homestead has been left in its present state (for, as is well known, the house has remained with all its contents and furnishings untouched) to rest during so long a term of years unoccupied, could not, of course, fail to be commented on, and this circumstance alone has perhaps tended to keep alive a melancholy story which may well be forgotten."

He read the elaborate, rather attitudinized phraseology in the twenty-year-old paper, with a wondering interest. "An old house," he mused, "with a bad name. Probably he couldn't sell it, and maybe nobody would ever live in it. That would explain why it remained so long unoccupied—why there are no records of rentals. Probably the land was starved and run down."

"It's an off-set to the hall-bedroom idea, at any rate," he said to himself humorously. "It holds out an escape from the noble army of rent-payers. When my twenty-eight hundred is gone, I could live down there a landed proprietor, and by the same mark an honorary colonel, and raise the cabbage I was talking about—eh, Chum?—while you stalk rabbits. How does that strike you?"

He laughed whimsically. He, John Valiant, of New York, first-lighter at its theaters, half-fellow-well-met in its club corridors and welcome diner at any one of a hundred brilliant glass-and-silver-twinkling supper tables, entombed on the wreck of a Virginia plantation, a would-be country gentleman, on an automobile and next to nothing a year!

He bethought himself of the fallen letter and possessed himself of it quickly. It lay with the superscription side down. On it was written, in the same hand which had addressed the other envelope:

For my son, John Valiant, When he reaches the age of twenty-five.

That, then, had been written by his father—and he had died nearly twenty years ago! He broke the seal with a strange feeling, as if, walking in some familiar thoroughfare, he had stumbled on a lichen and sunken tombstone.

"When you read this, my son, you will have come to man's estate. It is curious to think that this black ink may be faded to gray and this white, white paper yellowed, just from lying waiting so long. But stranger of all is to think that you yourself whose brown head hardly tops this desk, will be as tall (I hope) as I! How I wonder what you will look like then! And shall I—the real, real I, I mean—be peering over your strong broad shoulder as you read? Who knows? Wise men have dreamed such a thing possible—and I am not a bit wiser."

"John, you will not have forgotten that you are a Valiant. But you are also a Virginian. Will you have discovered this for yourself? Here is the deed to the land where I and my father, and his father, and many, many more Valiants before them were born. Sometime, perhaps, you will know why you are John Valiant of New York instead of John Valiant of Damory Court. I can't tell you myself, because it's too true a story, and I have forgotten how to tell any but fairy tales, where everything happens right, where the Prince marries the beautiful Princess—and they live happily together ever after."

"You may never care to live at Damory Court. Maybe the life you will know, so well by the time you read this will have weilded you to itself. If so, well and good. Then leave the old place to your son. But there is such a thing as racial habit, and the call of blood. And I know there is such a thing, too, as fate. Every man carries his fate on a th-band, about his neck," so the Modern put it. It was my fate to go away, and I know now—since distance is not made by miles alone—that I myself shall never see Damory Court again. But life is a strange wheel that goes round and round and comes back to the same point again and again. And it may be your fate to go back. Then perhaps you will cry (but, oh, not on the old white bear's skin rug—never again with me holding your small, small hand!)"

"Wishing-House! Wishing-House! Where are you?"

"Here I am, Master; here I am!" "Ah, we are only children, after all, playing out of plays. I have had many toys, O John, John! The ones I treasure most are all in the Never-Never Land!"

CHAPTER IV.

A Valiant of Virginia.
For a long time John Valiant sat motionless, the opened letter in his hand, staring at nothing. He had the sensation, spiritually, of a traveler awakened with a rude shock amid wholly unfamiliar surroundings.

He was trying to remember—to put two and two together. His father had been a Southern-born; yes, he had known that. But he had known nothing whatever of his father's early days, or of his forebears; since he had been old enough to wonder about such things, he had had no one to ask questions of.

Phrases of the letter ran through his mind: "Sometime, perhaps, you will know why you are John Valiant of New York instead of John Valiant of Damory Court." "I cannot tell you myself." There was some tragedy, then, that had blighted the place, some "melancholy story," as the clipping put it.

He bent over the deed spread out upon the table, following with his finger the long line of transfers: "To John Valiant," he muttered; "what odd spelling! Robert Valiant—without the 'e'. Here, in 1730, the 'y' begins to be 'i'." There was something strenuous and appealing in the long line of dates. "Valiant. Always a Valiant. How they held on to it! There's never a break!"

A curious pride, new-born and self-conscious, was dawning in him. He was descended from ancestors who had been no weaklings. A Valiant had settled on those acres under a royal governor, before the old frontier fighting was over and the Indians had suddenly retired to the westward. The sons of those who had braved sea and savages had bowed their strong bodies and their stronger hearts to raze the forests and turn the primeval jupjags into golden plantations.

There stole into his mood an eerie suggestion of intention. Why should the date assigned for that deed's delivery have been the very day on which he had elected poverty? Here was a foreordination as pointed as the index-finger of a guide-post. "Every man carries his fate," he repeated, "on a riband about his neck." Chum, do you believe in fate?

For answer the bulldog, cocking an alert eye on his master, discontinued his occupation—a conscientious if unsuccessful mastication of the fattish packet that had fallen from the folded deed—and with much solicitous tail-wagging, brought the sodden thing in his mouth and put it into the outstretched hand.

His master unrolled the pulpywad and extricated the object it had enclosed—an old-fashioned iron door-key. After a time Valiant thrust the key into his pocket, and rising, went to a trunk that lay against the wall. Searching in a portfolio, he took out a small old-fashioned photograph, much battered and soiled. It had been cut from a larger group and the name of the photographer had been erased from the back. He set it upright on the desk, and bending forward, looked long at the face it disclosed. It was the only picture he had ever possessed of his father.

He turned and looked into the glass above the dresser. The features were the same, eyes, brow, lips, and strong waving hair. But for its time-stains the photograph might have been one of himself, taken yesterday.

CHAPTER V.

On a Red Road.
The green, mid-May Virginian afternoon was arched with a sky as blue as the tiles of the Temple of Heaven and steeped in a wash of sunlight as yellow as gold. Nothing in all the springy landscape but looked warm and opalescent and inviting—except a tawny bull that from across a barred fence-corner switched a truculent tail in silence and glowered sullenly at the big motor halted motionless at the side of the twisting road.

For a Long Time John Valiant Sat Motionless, the Opened Letter in His Hand, Staring at Nothing.

Curled worm-like in the driver's seat, with his chin on his knees, John Valiant sat with his eyes upon the distance. For an hour he had whirled through that wondrous shimmer of color with a flippant loitering breeze in his face, sweet from the crimson, clover that poured and rooted over the roadside.

"Chum, old man," said Valiant, with his arm about the bulldog's neck, "if those color-photograph chaps had shown us this, we simply wouldn't have believed it, would we? Such scenery beats the roads we're used to, what?" He wound his strong fingers in a choking grip in the scruff of the white neck, as a chipmunk chattered by on the low stone wall. "No, you don't you cannibals! He's a jolly little beggar, and he doesn't deserve being eaten!"

He filled his briar-wood pipe, and drew in great breaths of the fragrant incense. "What a pity you don't smoke, Chum; you miss such a lot!"

After a time he shook himself and knocked the red core from the pipe-bowl against his boot-heel. "I hate to start," he confessed, "half to the dog and half to myself. 'To leave anything so shrewdly beautiful as this! However, on with the dance! By the road map, the village can't be far now. So long, Mr. Bull!"

He clutched the self-starter. But there was only a protestant wheeze; the car declined to budge. Climbing down, he cranked vigorously. The motor turned over with a surly grunt of remonstrance and after a tentative throb-throb, coughed and stopped dead. Something was wrong. With a sigh he swung off his tweed jacket, donned a smudge "jumper," opened his toolbox, and with a glance at his wrist-watch, which told him it was three o'clock, threw up the monster's hood and went bitterly to work.

At half past three the investigation had got as far as the lubricator. At four o'clock the bulldog had given it up and gone nosing afieid. At half past four John Valiant lay flat on his back, like some disreputable stardore, alternately tinkering with refractory valves and "curving" the gliburate mechanism. A sharp stone gnawed frenziedly into the small of his back and just as he made a final vicious lunge, something gave way and a prickling red-hot stab of pain shot zig-zagging from his smitten crazy-bone through every tortured crevice of his impatient frame. Like steel from flint it struck out a crisp oath that brought an answering bovine snort from the fence-corner.

Worming like a lizard to freedom, his eyes puckered shut with the wretched pang, John Valiant sat up and shook his grimy fist in the air. "You silly loading idiot!" he cried. "Thump your own crazy-bone and see how you like it! You—oh, lord!"

His arm dropped, and a flush spread over his face to the brow. For his eyes had opened. He was gesturing not at the bull but at a girl, who fronted him beside the road, haughtiness in the very hue of her gray-blue linen walking suit and in the clear-cut cameo face under her felt cavalry hat, myrtle-blue eyes that held a smolder of mingled astonishment and indignation. An instant he gazed, all the muscles of his face tightened with chagrin.

"I—I beg your pardon," he stammered. "I didn't see you. I really didn't. I was—I was talking to the bull."

The girl had been glancing from the flushed face to the thightly fence-corner, while the startled dignity of her features warred with an unmistakable tendency to mirth. He had struggled to his feet, nursing his bruised elbow, irritably conscious of his resemblance to an emerging chimney-sweep. "I don't habitually swear," he said, "but I got to the point when something had to explode."

Dinner Stories

There is in circulation yet another genial story about the canny Scot. A Caledonia chieftain won a million pins in a penny raffle at a bazaar. Three days later he called, very wan and weary of aspect.

"See here," he said to the bazar secretary. "I've counted them. They're three short!"

When a well-known official was appointed to his first post in India, one of his subordinates, who did not know him, tried to find out from a brother officer what sort of man they would have to deal with. The dialogue went something like this:

"Does he play bridge much?"

"Not much."

"Billiards, maybe?"

"Nothing to speak of."

"Any good at chess?"

"He plays badly."

"Does he go in for any outdoor sports?"

"At long intervals."

"Then, what one earth does he do?" asked the bewildered man, finally.

"The rarest thing possible," snapped the other. "He works."

Want Ad. Results

"Where is the piano you used to have, is that it?" said a caller to her hostess. "We sold our piano, said the woman addressed, at a good price, and bought a new one."

The caller looked her polite, but curious surprise. "You see it was this way," said the hostess, "We were thinking of moving, so, as we hated to move the piano, we run an ad to sell it. Gracious, we were swamped with answers. You've no idea how many people are looking for pianos; that is, until you run an ad." "We sold our piano at a really good price, then found we were not to move for at least a year. As I could not look forward to a year without a piano I used the method to procure one that I had used so effectively to sell ours—I advertised for one. This one was purchased and after all the business transactions are over I find myself with fifteen dollars in cash as the result of the want ad column. I never would have bought or sold had it not been for them. They put me in touch with the public."

What the want ad column did for this woman it stands ready to do for you, if you are willing to try its merits. Are you?

AN OLD REMEDY
Beef, Iron and Wine is one of the good old remedies that has outlived a score of patent tonics, reasonable in price, a satisfactory tonic, appetizer and mild stimulant. There is nothing better for that tired, worried, listless feeling or run-down condition of the system after illness of any kind. It tones the whole system, stimulates digestion, gives you appetite, is a good iron tonic for weak, pale children or old people, far more effective than malt extract or so-called wine of cod liver oil that depend upon their stimulants alone. Beef, Iron and Wine tones and sustains, it assists nature to recuperate, it's a food to the sick and nursing mothers.

Mr. Pfennig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, prepares our Beef, Iron and Wine. It's always fresh, made from the very best extract of beef, wholesome, properly aged, and a healthy tonic.

We don't sell ready-made, hand-made, factory-manufactured Beef, Iron and Wine. We believe and know that medicine should be compounded only by the experienced and scientific ally trained.

Try a bottle of our Beef, Iron and Wine as made by Mr. Pfennig, 75c a full pint. Note its wholesome taste and invigorating effect. You will be more than satisfied. Get it at the Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and Mr. car streets.

Sell your house or any other piece of real estate you may have through the want ad. column—the cost is but a trifle.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, March 26, 1874.—After nearly four years of editorial work upon the Gazette, I now find myself called upon to place a final period to my journalistic labor in this city. This I cannot but regret, most earnestly as my connection with the Gazette and the people of Janesville has been full of pleasant experiences. I go to Davenport, Ia., there to engage in newspaper work with this issue of the Gazette I surrender the chair.

WHEELER BOWEN.
Rock River is intruding on Todd's Brewery and the basement of Griffith's store.

Prof. Busch, the horse trainer, will give a free exhibition at the Burr Robbins circus ring, tomorrow and Saturday at one o'clock.

Hon. Levi Alden of the Madison Journal, called this afternoon at the Willard Merrill of Milwaukee is in town.

Dr. Horne resigned his position as pound master last evening. The doctor has been a terror to all stray horses and cows of the city.

The First M. E. church was crowded last evening to hear the voices of certain prominent citizens on the progress of the temperance movement in many sections of the country.

Twenty years ago today Coxey's army started its march from Massillon, Ohio, to Washington—March 26, 1894. Find two more followers:
